Spring is well and truly upon us! It's the biggest racing season of the year again and the race that stops a nation, the Melbourne Cup, is just around the corner.

But what to wear?

IN THE FIELD OF Fashion

Looking for some insight into this year's fashion at the track, The Redcliffe Guide was lucky enough to chat with national racing and fashion identity Cathryn Meredith. Cathryn is the founding publisher of Ladies in RACING magazine; she has attended most of the major racing cups around the world and is an experienced judge of Fashion on the Field events.

"There are big prizes on offer at some of these events; it can be very competitive," Cathryn says. "We look for fashions that are on-trend, and the overall look according to the criteria for each event."

But rest assured that you don't need to spend a fortune on designer labels.

"A lot of the girls actually make their own dresses... or they will buy an outfit and then adapt it. They might change something on it or add a bit more to the hem, or take something off the shoulders or the sleeves. They're really quite clever."

So what's hot in 2017? Cathryn tells us, "A lot of the things that are cutting-edge this year are very feminine, like chiffon and flowing type fabrics. On Melbourne Cup Day, it's bold colours and bold patterns and prints and designs... more avant garde fashions."

Lindsey Ridings and Amanda Macor

This year, don't forget to accessorise. Hattinators, bags and shoes are essential. "Millinery is extremely important. Little lace gloves are popular for spring and summer carnivals. You don't have to match everything up anymore, as long as the overall look is well put together."

“ Big, wide brimmed hats are making a comeback,” Cathryn says, “as well as the straw boaters.”

Although she lives on the Redcliffe Peninsula, Cathryn will be taking her considerable experience and style to Victoria for all of the Melbourne Cup Carnival racing events this year, held across three tracks and lots of other venues.

What's On GUIDE

The race that stops a nation is coming this year on Tuesday 7th November. Now is the time to start planning your day! Fetch your fascinator, frock up, brace for champagne and find a great place to watch the race.

Here are some local options to consider, and remember to book your spot in advance for a fantastic afternoon of fine racing and fashion!

Mon Komo Hotel

The Mon Komo Hotel will have a three-course lunch and beverage package available for $99 per person, including the latest Spring/Summer fashion collection presented as part of the Myer Fashion Parade. Guests can pick a winner in the sweeps or place a bet at the TAB facilities before watching the race live on the TV's and big screens.

Email events@monkomohotel.com.au or call 3284 6520.

Redcliffe Golf Club

At the Redcliffe Golf Club you can watch the great race while enjoying a buffet lunch for $28 per person.

Email info@redcliffegolf.com or call 3284 5485 for more details.

Redcliffe Leagues Club

The Redcliffe Leagues Club presents a tempting offer for Melbourne Cup celebrations with their Spring Fling Luncheon; featuring everyone's favourite daytime entertainer, Ronnie Christie, who will lead the fun and games in the Presidents Room with sweeps, raffles and prizes. Tickets include a glass of bubbly on arrival, buffet lunch and dessert.

$45 Members / $55 Non-Members
Call 3203 7333 or go to www.redcliffeleagues.com.au to book.

The Golden Ox

Nick from The Golden Ox tells the Redcliffe Guide that in 2017 they will again be putting on a special show (and as usual, wonderful food) for guests who attend their Melbourne Cup soiree. There will be fashion by Style Made Easy, champagne and canapés on arrival, plus a two-course gourmet meal including an incredible dessert selection. There will be prizes for best-dressed lady, gentleman and couple, and $5 from every ticket will be donated to the Tuesday Club, who provides hampers for the homeless for Christmas.

Tickets $68.80, for bookings call 3283 1833

The North Lakes Golf Club with Lomandra's Restaurant

The North Lakes Golf Club with Lomandra's Restaurant will be holding their annual Melbourne Cup Garden Party on 7th November, with food stalls and fashion parades.

Call the club on 3480 9200 or email enquiries@northlakesgolfclub.com.au for more details.

The Belvedere Hotel

Enjoy a picturesque afternoon at The Belvedere Hotel in Woody Point, as your gaze wanders from the sun on Bramble Bay to the most popular horse racing event in the country. For $85 per person you get a three-course seated menu plus a three-hour beverage package in The Pavilion at this iconic Redcliffe venue.

Call 3284 2255 for tickets or email mitch@belvederehotel.com.au for info.

Redcliffe RSL

For just $33.90 per person you could head to the Redcliffe RSL for their 2017 Melbourne Cup Luncheon, which includes a drink on arrival, a delicious two-course meal, sweeps, live entertainment from 'Fiddle Me Please', and 'Fashions on the Field' prizes for best dressed.

When you're not watching the race or the live music, you can enjoy great views over Moreton Bay!

Call 3897 6000 or email enquiries@redcliffersl.com.au to book.

TORQUE ABOUT FUN!

By Philip Woods

Run by the Clontarf Beach Scout Group, the Peninsula's own annual automotive show is now in its 17th year of raising funds for the group, and is showing no signs of slowing down.

Event organiser Cheryl Linsdell is expecting a great turnout of both entrants and visitors again this year. "We usually get anywhere between 180 and 220 entrants on the day", Cheryl said, "People come from far and wide".

With auto categories including Hot Rods, Muscle Cars, Trucks, Bikes, Vintage/Veteran, Vans, Sports Cars, Buses, Utes and Historical Vehicles, Wheels of the Century will have something for all models of motoring enthusiast.

BUCKLE UP AND GET READY for a truckload of good times when the Wheels of the Century Automotive Show 2017 takes over the Redcliffe Showgrounds on 12th November.

“We keep it as an automotive show rather than a car show so there is something for everyone,” Cheryl said.

“We have regulars who keep coming back every year, and new people every year. As it’s our major fundraiser this is great!”

Peter Foote has been attending Wheels of the Century since it began in 2000.

“ I love it, I’ve only ever missed one show. I’ll be taking my 1959 Ford Edsel and I think it’ll be the only one there” Peter said, “It’s a good chance to catch up with people who like classic cars; some of the machines you see there are really nice.”

Judges prizes will be awarded for Best in Show, Top Bike of Show and Best Represented Club, plus visitors can vote for the vehicle they love the most to win the People’s Choice Award.

There will also be coffee vendors, market stalls and a food tent, plus live music by ‘Special T’ who play rock and roll hits from the 50s, 60s and 70s.

festival of Christmas Trees

With Christmas fast approaching, it's important to remember those who are disadvantaged.

By Kristine Lane

Quota International (QI) invites the community to view and judge an eclectic display of Christmas trees, and enjoy its annual Festival of Christmas Trees fundraising event.

Repeating their successful event from last year, QI hopes to surpass last year's fundraising efforts in order to help fund programs aligning to their 2016-2017 service theme of 'Sound Beginnings for Children'. Profits from this year's festival will be directed towards the QuoCKa Reading Program in local primary schools, local refuges for women and children, the Cartmill Riding for the Disabled, Hummingbird House Hospice for Children, and the Hear and Say Centre at Ashgrove.

The two-day event will begin with a wine and cheese evening (for invited guests only) on Friday 1st December from 6-8pm where the tree entries will be judged and the Multitude Choir will perform. On Saturday 2nd, the public is encouraged to visit the display from 9am-3pm and vote in the People's Choice category, with the winner being announced at 2.30pm.

There will also be Christmas gift stalls, children's activities, and a raffle. The entry fee of $5 per person includes three voting tickets, tea, coffee, and cake, with additional votes available at three for $2.

Publicity Coordinator of QI, Kay Smallhorne, says, "The challenge is to decorate a themed tree which embodies the spirit of Christmas and promotes a particular business or group.

By organising an even bigger display of trees this year, we are anticipating some outstanding local talent."

Businesses, schools, organisations, and individuals are encouraged to decorate a themed tree in a creative fashion to be displayed, judged and voted for by the public for the Festival. Trees can be decorated in the form of colour, items used to create or decorate the tree, the shape and design of the tree itself, or can generate an idea or have a message.

Being held in Webb Hall at the Redcliffe Showgrounds, it promises to be an exciting, family event to help share the spirit of Christmas giving.

“ We are aiming for our Festival to become a much anticipated and loved Christmas event that is embraced by the whole community at a time which is all about caring and giving to those less fortunate than ourselves,” Kay says.

CONVOY

For Kids

By Kristine Lane

Driving into its 8th year, Brisbane Convoy for Kids, will once again dazzle the crowds with all things big and bold, raising funds for kids in need on Saturday 4th November.

Starting at 9.30am in Forest Lake, an assortment of heavy vehicles will drive along the Logan and Gateway Motorway, Deagon Deviation, over the Houghton Highway Bridge, along the Redcliffe foreshore and up Oxley Avenue, finishing at the Redcliffe Showgrounds at approximately 10.30am, where spectators will be able to view all the vehicles and partake in the day's festivities.

From entertainment, presentations, displays, children's activities, and fireworks, it promises to be a fun day out for all the family.

Treasurer of the event, Leanne Dinning, says, "Kids, big and small, are enthralled by the size, colour, and sounds of the big rigs as they pass by in the convoy, decorated and flying flags. And once at the Redcliffe Showgrounds, families can enjoy free rides, a petting zoo, stalls, singers, bands and dancers on the main stage, an auction, a truck tug-of-war, dunking tanks, a bucking bull, and a bar, with the night concluding at 10.30pm."

Vehicles taking part on the day include big and small trucks, fire trucks, tow trucks, utes, ambulances, and buses, and there are numerous spots on the Peninsula to view the progress of the convoy such as Pelican Park and along Oxley Avenue. Leanne says, "Locals sometimes set up BBQs and sunshades to watch, but we just ask for people not to stop on the Logan or Gateway Motorways as it's not safe."

With proceeds going to children's hospice, Hummingbird House, to help support families of children with life-limiting conditions, Brisbane Convoy for Kids aims to create a fun-filled family day out.

"Brisbane Convoy for Kids is a magical day for everyone," says Leanne.

"Whilst we are raising funds for kids in need, we are also raising a positive image for the men and women of the transport industry. It costs the average entrant in the convoy about $300 to partake, plus time to get the vehicle ready, but just seeing a smile on a child's face is all we ask for on the day."

CREEPY

KOOKY CAST TO TAKE CENTRE STAGE

They're creepy and they're kooky, mysterious and spooky, they're altogether ooky, and they're about to hit the stage on the Peninsula.

McShea

The world's darkest family comes to the Bayside this November, with the kooky musical comedy production of The Addams Family.

Artistic Director and President of Redcliffe Musical Theatre Madeleine Johns says the production will be quirky, clever and exceptionally funny.

"There's something for everyone in this quirky, high-energy, fun-filled musical - singing, dancing, acting, comedy and a really wonderful heartfelt story all wrapped into one," she says.

“ It's a show about family – a very weird family, but family nonetheless.”

Madeleine says the musical is brand new to the Moreton Bay region, after opening in Sydney in 2012.

First created by American cartoonist Charles Addams, The Addams Family was developed into a television series in the 1960s and has since inspired films, books, videos and now a musical.

Madeleine says the rehearsals have been going spectacularly well and there is a lot of interest in the production.

"We have an amazing cast of 20 extremely talented locals led by Reagan Warner playing Gomez Addams and Georgia Murray (alternating with Meredith Johns) as Morticia Addams," she says.

"It also features Sophie Price as Wednesday Addams and Seb Witt as Pugsley Addams."

Madeleine is one of the founding members of Redcliffe Musical Theatre and is passionate about first-class local theatre.

"Audiences can expect to have a great night out at the theatre and they don't need to travel to QPAC to do it," she says.

"The goal of Redcliffe Musical Theatre is to provide high quality theatre to local audiences at an affordable price.

"Come along and support a local theatre company performing in a local venue – the newly created Theatre 102, right in the heart of the Peninsula.

"We are here to provide entertainment for our local audiences, so make sure you see The Addams Family and see what local can do."

■ The production runs from November 3-19 and tickets can be purchased at www.redcliffemusicaltheatre.com

“The show has had a lot of opportunity to grow and shape itself for international audiences this year,” says Thomas J Egan, one of the co-creators and performers.

“It’s fantastic that we use all of our experience overseas and bring it back home. We improvise a lot on stage so every night tends to be a little different, I’m sure Redcliffe will be a lot of fun with four talented guys back on the road together.”

The Tap Pack have sold out shows around the world and received accolades for their performances, inspired by the famous ‘Rat Pack’ - Sammy Davis Jnr, Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin. The rave reviews are no surprise when you consider the pedigree of the show’s performers.

Between them these talented guys boast over twenty musical theatre productions including Grease, Singin’ In The Rain, Guys and Dolls, Westside Story and Saturday Night Fever, as well as performances with Tap Dogs, Kylie Minogue, Delta Goodrem, Guy Sebastian and Jessica Mauboy.

Despite spending a lot of time performing overseas, the boys still love touring at home.

“Australia has some of the most beautiful places on earth and we’re so lucky to get the opportunity to bring the show to places like Redcliffe”, Thomas says. “The show was built in Australia and we will always look forward to performing here.”

You can expect the Tap Pack to bring invigorating energy to their Redcliffe show, which will feature some of your favourite Rat Pack classics, as well as hits from Beyonce, Ed Sheeran and Michael Buble, all delivered with quick wit, snappy suits and formidable footwork. Don’t miss out!

*It's all about

this November with the launch of the
Brisbane Ladies Night
Markets at Redcliffe's
Mon Komo Hotel.

It's Ladies NIGHT

Creator Gill Gould says the market is the first event of its kind and she is excited to launch the concept in Redcliffe.

"This market will be my first one — I will be holding them regularly in different locations across Brisbane with my next event to be in February next year back in Redcliffe," she says.

"I was looking for a unique ladies night market to attend myself and couldn't find any, so I decided to create one."

Gill says the event is designed to be a fun night out with the girls where they can shop and be pampered and inspired.

"There will be a wide range of stalls from beauty, jewellery and pet products to handmade soaps, leather handbags and a variety of homewares.

"A range of fashion will also be on display for fashionistas looking to style up for the summer season."

Pampering is a big part of the Brisbane Ladies Night Market and there are many ways to indulge in what's on offer.

"Guests can treat themselves to short massages, mini manicures, eyebrow threading, henna tattoos and even a clairvoyant reading," she says.

“ The ticket price also includes a glass of champagne on arrival and one free entry into the lucky door prize.”

Gill says she is very excited at the amount of interest the inaugural event has generated in the community.

"I have got some fantastic stall holders on board, which is wonderful," she says.

"I want these events to be a fun and relaxed night out, but it is important to me that they are empowering for women, as well as giving female small business owners a chance to shine.

"Share the Dignity is a charity I feel very passionate about and we will hold a raffle on the night where all proceeds are donated to this worthy cause."

New-look club set to bowl them over

The grass is looking greener for Scarborough Bowls Club with a new manager and new caterers breathing a fresh perspective into the much-loved watering hole.

New club manager Howard Best has spent 26 years in hospitality, 17 of which has been specifically in bowls clubs, and he also owned his own successful restaurant on Magnetic Island for seven years.

Best says he has big plans for the club, both on the greens and inside the clubhouse.

“We want to get corporate bowls (businesses putting in teams) and barefoot bowls up and running, and we want to build on the social bowls membership base,” he says.

“We’re also planning to upgrade the pokies and to revamp the bar area.

“We’ve had very positive feedback in a short time with the new caterers on board and the subtle changes we have made so far in the bar area.”

That new caterer gaining plaudits from the pundits is chef Wes Neil, who has 20 years’ experience in the kitchen and has revamped the food offering at the club.

“My wife Tenille and I are the contract caterers for the club and we’re keen to offer some fresh new thoughts on the menu and give people an affordable opportunity to come out for a great meal,” he says.

“They should definitely come out and try our Peking piggy and our salt and pepper squid.”

Best says customers are already loving the new menu, with the fresh red emperor, pork belly and great portion sizes getting the thumbs up.

“ The restaurant is unique because of its size and décor, which now has a real crisp, clean look and not the old 1970s bowls clubs of the past,” he says.

“There’s great value meals and good portion sizes, as well as fresh fish every Friday. Scarborough is so friendly and the weather and beaches are awesome, we’re really excited for the future of the club.”

New jobs, better tourism experiences and more opportunities for businesses are the hallmarks of a council plan that's set to breathe new economic life into the Moreton Bay region.

After extensive community consultation and engagement, Moreton Bay Regional Council has unveiled its much-anticipated Redcliffe Foreshore Master Plan and Activation Strategy.

The master plan will promote business and tourism across nine locations from Clontarf to Newport, with the trial and inclusion of food trucks, pop-up vendors, food markets, car shows, annual events and even an inflatable water park.

Mayor Allan Sutherland says the master plan would unlock exciting economic development opportunities for new and existing businesses and spark job growth for residents.

“Private inflatable water park operators have already indicated to council that they’ll be hiring local lifeguards to help run the park, and for our brick-and-mortar shops already on the foreshore, the master plan is a chance for them to extend their footprint through to the shore,” Cr Sutherland says.

“The new foreshore master plan adds another element to our vibrant foreshore areas for residents and the more than 2.9 million annual visitors who help generate more than $670 million for our local businesses.”

Moreton Bay Regional Council Division 5 Councillor James Houghton says residents, visitors and businesses in Redcliffe have long been champing at the bit for new opportunities at foreshore areas.

“Council has adopted a plan to accommodate new pop-up activities along the Peninsula,” he says.

“Redcliffe’s scenic views, family-friendly atmosphere and close proximity to the rest of South East Queensland make it one of the most sought after destinations for visitors.

“It is exactly why paddle-board operators and other similar vendors have been approaching council to set up their business here.”

THE NINE KEY LOCATIONS:

Precinct 1: Clontarf Beach, Pelican and Bells Beach Parks

Precinct 2: Bicentennial and Woody Point Parks

Precinct 3: Scotts Point, Progress, Lahore and Gayundah Arboretum Parks

Precinct 4: Suttons Beach and Margate Beach Parks

Precinct 5: Settlement Cove, Redcliffe Jetty and Captain Cook Parks

Precinct 6: Queens Beach and Grant Parks

Precinct 7: Scarborough Beach Park and Bill Marsh Lookout

Precinct 8: Thurecht, Jamieson and Tingira Parks

Precinct 9: Endeavour Park

Cr Houghton says businesses said the current system for temporary activities was cumbersome and restrictive.

“We’re creating a new streamlined process for businesses to be pre-approved, so they can operate easily across a number of beaches and foreshore areas.”

SUMMER SLIDES INTO CLONTARF

THE LARGE INFLATABLE WATER PARK

is just one part of the Redcliffe Foreshore Master Plan and Activation Strategy and will be installed as part of a three-month trial over the Christmas holidays.

Moreton Bay Mayor Allan Sutherland hopes the water park will boost tourism in the area dramatically and is looking forward to the finished product.

“ The new water park will be trialled at Clontarf’s Pelican Park so we are working together with the State Government and private operators to trial this exciting new venture,” he says.

Things are bound to get wet'n'wild if a trial of an inflatable water park this summer becomes a regular feature on the Redcliffe waterfront.

Moreton Bay Regional Council Division 6 Councillor Kolianna Winchester says the inflatable water park trial at Pelican Park would hopefully include many of the popular equipment such as slides and other jumping elements usually found at aqua parks, plus new amusements exclusive to Redcliffe.

“Council is now working with the State Government and water park operators to finalise a trial, hopefully in time for the Christmas school holidays,” Cr Winchester says.

“During consultation on our foreshore master plan, the community overwhelmingly told us they wanted an inflatable water park on the Peninsula.”

Cr Winchester says the water park will align with community values and positively impact local businesses.

“Beyond the fun and excitement of swings, slides and trampolines, an inflatable water park will generate local jobs and bring new visitors who will spend money at our local restaurants, cafes and businesses,” she says.

“If the trial is successful, we’re hoping to be able to implement something in the long term not only in Redcliffe but elsewhere in Moreton Bay.”

Cr Sutherland says the council conducted two consultation periods, including sessions with business owners.

More than 600 residents completed surveys and another 200 shared their ideas for the new plan.

“Survey respondents told us they felt strongly about the inclusion of an inflatable water park,” he says.

At the heart of this exhibition is the exploration of 'women's work' - needlework techniques and other textile techniques aligned with females, including embroidery, knitting, crochet, and binding. Artworks and installations created from found objects, handmade textiles, and digital photography are tactile and engaging; reflecting on the process, meanings and potential strength contained in textile traditions.

A WORD FROM OUR REPRESENTATIVES

Cr Houghton

Council has adopted the Redcliffe Foreshore Master Plan following a survey completed by more than 600 residents, while another 200 shared their ideas for the new plan during the consultation period. The policy applies to 15km and 30 parks on the Redcliffe foreshore and describes the activities and businesses that can be set up at each of the major foreshore areas. As a result, Council will be working with the State Government and private operators to trial a GIANT inflatable water park at Clontarf, which was the most popular suggestion by residents.

Under the new master plan, places like Suttons Beach will be able to offer deck chair and umbrella hire, while areas like Bicentennial Park at Woody Point can be used for Eat Street-style markets. A new dog off leash area will also be trialled at Queens Beach, Scarborough.

It is hoped the plan would complement existing businesses and retain the character of each of the nine key locations. New businesses will not be allowed to set up within 500 metres of an existing competing business.

For more information and a copy of the master plan, visit www.moretonbay.qld.gov.au/redcliffe-foreshore-masterplan.

Yvette D'Ath MP

The Redcliffe community is seeing the benefits of the Palaszczuk Government's investment in health services at Redcliffe Hospital.

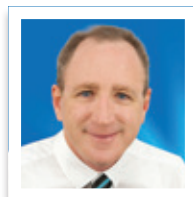

I was pleased to join the Queensland Health Minister Cameron Dick, hospital management, staff and patients for the opening of the newly completed Cancer Care Services and Day Treatment Unit, and the Kidney Health Services and Redcliffe Dialysis Unit at the Moreton Bay Integrated Care Centre (MBICC). The relocation of these services to MBICC permits work to commence on a 26-bed acute care ward on level 6 of the hospital. Work is also underway to construct two replacement Day Procedure rooms, refurbish sterilising service and pathology areas, and undertake a major upgrade of the hospital's electrical infrastructure.

We have restored frontline services with 137 extra nurses and midwives, 25 extra doctors and 23 allied health workers employed at Redcliffe Hospital during this term of government.

I have also successfully advocated for the State Government to finance and build a new multi-storey car park at Redcliffe Hospital, to be operated by the Hospital and Health Service. This will enable us to contain car parking costs to about $15 per day with concessions available for eligible patients, carers and staff.

Luke Howarth MP

Thank you to all those businesses and job service providers who attended the Job Seeker Boot Camp. I greatly appreciate your support for our local community. I was very pleased to hear that as a result of the Job Seeker Boot Camp one attendee secured a job and another landed an apprenticeship.

Over the last 12 months, Australia has seen consecutive jobs growth with 371,500 new jobs created. This is a great result for our local community as we continue to see our local unemployment rate fall. We still have more to do, but thank you to all the businesses, job service providers and mentors for all your efforts helping our job seekers.

Businesses, don't forget to take advantage of the Coalition Government's instant asset write-off. We want to see you grow and invest – this is one part of the Government's plan to boost the economy and create jobs. If you would like to know more about the instant asset write-off, please call my office on 3284 8008 or email me at luke.howarth.mp@aph.gov.au.

A RACE ON SEA LEGS

Ellen Moynihan

This month a tide of stand up paddle boarders from clubs around Queensland will take to the waters of Scarborough, to compete in the third event of the Paddleboard Tri Series.

The Tri Series stand up paddleboard race, hosted by BrisSUP, will take place on November 19.

The race is the third and final event of an interclub competition between paddleboard clubs on the Sunshine Coast, the Gold Coast, and Brisbane. It will take place on Queen's Beach North, on Flinder's Parade at Scarborough.

The event consists of two races; the short course is around 3-4 km, and the long course is usually 6-8km in length. Being the third event this year, this one will decide which club wins the overall Tri Series. BrisSUP won last year, and the BrisSUP club secretary and event organiser Amanda Bailey, says they are hoping to keep their lead and retain the cup.

“ We won last year by sheer force of numbers, and we usually have quite a lot of entrants from our club” she says, “We’re hoping overall that around 100 people might turn up.”

In addition to the trophy for the winning club, there are also individual race categories. Women’s and men’s long and short distance races, divided into age categories, as well as a junior’s race for kids under 14.

The races will run from 8am to 1pm. Only club members can enter races, however anyone is welcome to come and watch the sea of paddlers competing. “We’re keen for people to come along, and our club is even looking at doing ‘come and try days’ in the future, so people can come and have a go if they’ve never tried it before, and discover how fun it is.” says Amanda.

Plastic Bag Ban Set for Queensland

Redcliffe parks and foreshores will be cleaner places, and our local wildlife safer when Queensland introduces the Container Refund Scheme and the Lightweight Plastic Shopping Bag Ban from 1st July 2018.

By Philip Woods

Yvette D'Ath, Member for Redcliffe, said the Waste Reduction and Recycling Amendment Bill 2017 was passed by State Parliament on 5 September 2017, with bipartisan support.

"By passing this Bill we say to our young people that we value our wildlife, especially our marine creatures like turtles, sea birds and dugongs" Mrs D'Ath said.

“ We say that we want our parks, our waterways, Moreton Bay and the Great Barrier Reef to be litter free.”

Lightweight plastic bag bans are already operating in South Australia, the Northern Territory, Tasmania and the ACT, and similar container refund schemes have been in place in South Australia and the Northern Territory for many years. Once the scheme comes into effect in Queensland, most containers between 150ml and 3litres will be eligible for a 10cent refund when they are returned to designated container refund points across the state.

Tony Crudgington from the Redcliffe Environmental Forum sees great value in the introduction of the schemes. "We see a lot of discarded rubbish washed ashore or running through the drains. This is absolutely a step in the right direction."

Redcliffe Coast Guard Flotilla Commander Lee McCarthy agrees, saying, "The reduction in plastic bags and bottles would see a reduction in marine wildlife becoming entangled with plastic bags and harmed. With the container refund scheme we would hope to see a great reduction in the amount of plastic bottles and containers dumped on our foreshore, which creates not only an eyesore but a risk to our wildlife once it enters the waterway."

Besides the benefits to the environment and wildlife, the scheme will also provide opportunities to community groups, schools, charities and social enterprise organisations to raise funds through the collection of empty containers.

Clontarf Eco-Path

A Pathway to Preserve & Protect

By Philip Woods

Redcliffe residents are one step closer to seeing 'up-close' the unique natural beauty that Hay's Inlet, near the Hornibrook Bridge, has to offer.

Tony Crudginton of the Redcliffe Environmental Forum has been involved in the Clontarf Eco-Path project since its inception. "We've been working towards this since around 2010," Tony said.

The planned Eco-Path will provide a pathway and boardwalk that allows both locals and tourists to experience the original environment of the area.

Spearheaded by the Redcliffe Environmental Forum, it will provide educational opportunities for local schools and residents, as well as protecting our local wildlife and environment for future generations.

“ Moreton Bay Regional Council is partnering with Redcliffe Environmental Forum in the project and has helped us gain federal funding. There’s been a lot of lobbying involved and Luke Howarth MP has been a great supporter,” Tony says.

The Redcliffe Environmental Forum and the Green Army have already done a lot of work towards the preservation and restoration of this area. “There is a temporary pathway in there now; the next stage is getting council engineers on site and having testing and design work done”.

In Tony’s words, “We saw value in putting this pathway through because it’s the last piece of what Redcliffe was; the only way to protect it was to make sure the public understand the value that it has, so that in the future it will still be there. That’s the vision.”

The Hay’s Inlet site is the only remaining place on the peninsula where the original Eucalypt, Casuarina, Melaleuca, Saltmarsh and Mangrove Forest profiles can still be observed in one walk, and will provide and preserve habitat for endangered and threatened species including the Koala, the Eastern Curlew and the Australian Painted Snipe.

The Green Army and the Redcliffe Environmental Forum thrive on volunteer input and assistance, and welcome new members.

Hanlon Brothers Licensed To Chill

If you want to cruise to some rhythm and blues, then a Sunday sesh with the Hanlon Brothers providing the grooves might just be the ticket.

The award-winning Gold Coast band will play several Sunday sessions at Mon Komo throughout November and December, with the band fusing original hip-hop, RnB, soul and jazz improvisations to create their signature sound.

Band member Saia Hanlon says Sunday session patrons should be prepared for some seriously chilled-out tunes and laid-back vibes to bring in their Sunday afternoon.

“We’re planning a chilled Sunday session full of RnB and reggae sing-along songs from the ‘90s,” he says.

“We grew up in a working musician’s household, where one week it would be Terence Trent D’arby, the next week would be Miles Davis, then Marvin Gaye. Plus we grew up listening to ‘90s RnB and hip-hop. These artists are a part of who we are, we can’t take that away.

“So we’ll play a set sort of how we would love a Sunday session sounding if we were attending.”

Saia says the band can’t wait to get back to the Peninsula - a place they know well after 15 years of playing together throughout Australia.

“Mon Komo is a great place to hang on your Sunday session,” he says.

“It’s almost a two-hour drive for us, but we love the venue. The food is great too. The entertainment is better!”

Mon Komo marketing manager Lilian Hare says the Komo del Mar Sunday sessions have built up a solid following on the Peninsula.

“They happen every Sunday from 1.30pm until late, and there’s shared cocktails and chilled beers out on the terrace.”

Following the opening of the Hornibrook Highway in 1935, a proposal by Hornibrook Highway Ltd to construct a shark-proof swimming enclosure at Clontarf received unanimous support from Redcliffe Town Council in December 1937.

Built the following year and officially opened in December 1938, this pool was a shark-proof enclosure situated about 400 yards from the Clontarf end of the Hornibrook Bridge, 1,000 feet from high water mark, and 400 feet wide. A platform ran the whole length of the southern boundary and across the seaward end of the enclosure, with three resting platforms and four springboards.

A dressing Pavilion and Cafe were erected on the opposite side of Hornibrook Esplanade necessitating the construction of a subway for access to the beach. The pavilion was described as an attractive building with an imposing concrete entrance and tiled roof. There were 200 lockers and 20 cubicles in the women's section, and 250 lockers and six cubicles in the Men's section.

“ A bathing pavilion was on the opposite side of the Hornibrook Highway with a viaduct so that you could dress in the bathing pavilion on one side and then walk under the Hornibrook Esplanade to the bathing enclosure.” — Greg Enright

In 1946 Hornibrook Highway Ltd. announced the sale of the company's swimming enclosure to Harry William Wightman and Percy and Eldine Thompson. Extensive alterations were carried out so that the cafe and dressing rooms became The Chalet cafe and dining room.

While remaining a popular fishing spot, the bathing enclosure gradually fell into disrepair until finally being removed in the early 1960s.

MBICC Outpatient clinic staff welcome Minister for Health Cameron Dick and Member for Redcliffe Yvette D'Ath on their visit to the new facility.

NEW CANCER CARE AND KIDNEY HEALTH SERVICES AT REDCLIFFE

Redcliffe and district residents requiring long term care for conditions such as kidney disease and cancer will now have options for enhanced treatment closer to home following the opening of new state-of-the-art facilities at the Moreton Bay Integrated Care Centre (MBICC) on the Redcliffe Hospital campus.

The Attorney-General and Member for Redcliffe Yvette D'Ath was joined by the Minister for Health, patients and their support representatives, Metro North HHS management, doctors, nurses and clinicians to celebrate the opening of the hospital's new $8.1 million Cancer Care Services and Day Treatment Unit, and the Kidney Health Services and Redcliffe Dialysis Unit.

Mrs D'Ath said that she was delighted everything about these new facilities has been designed with high standards of patient care and comfort in mind.

“ The first thing that strikes you as you walk into these facilities is the way they have been designed to make the most of the natural light and those stunning views across the Peninsula and Moreton Bay”.

The nature of treatments for renal patients is such that patients will often spend many hours at each treatment, several times a week. In their new facility, these patients will have improved comfort and access to personal televisions, while they receive their treatments. The new facilities have also been designed to make the important work of Redcliffe's nursing, pharmacy, and clinical staff easier.

Redcliffe Hospital provides health care services to a rapidly growing part of South East Queensland, and the new facilities will help ensure that health infrastructure keeps pace with that growth. The new Cancer Care facility is delivering chemotherapy treatments for between 150 and 200 patients each week; and providing 250 and 300 patient appointments in their outpatient clinics. Kidney Health Services are provided in conjunction with the Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital with the Redcliffe facility supporting 40 patients with 120 treatments each week.

These new facilities represent a significant State Government investment in modernising health care services at Redcliffe and improving the quality of care that the hospital provides to the community. Now that these cancer care and kidney health services are established at their new facilities in MBICC, the hospital is moving forward with other infrastructure modernisation, including an $8.1 million project to construct a new 26-bed acute care ward on level 6 of the hospital, a $6.6 million refurbishment of the Day Procedure Unit, and $7.4 million upgrade of the hospital's electrical infrastructure. In addition, planning is underway for the construction of a new multi-storey carpark at the hospital.

20 YEARS OF Artistry

Music By The Sea invites you to a FREE Community Concert celebrating its 20th anniversary with favourite artists, Andre Reginato, Sarah Hopkins, Mark Cryle and Carmel Newman, and a host of folk musicians.

Music By The Sea supports emerging artists, features national and international stars, presents original works and has produced a global Arts project.

Artistic director, Zoli Mauritz has quietly gone about his craft trailing a list of achievements that include world premiers, establishment of the Seaside Symphony Orchestra and SANDBAG Unplugged Cafe program, commission of Sandgate Piano Sonata by composer Elena Kats-Chernin, and Producer/Presenter of the Giant Steps Project outdoor installation on Sandgate foreshore.

Zoli Mauritz said, "I came to live in Sandgate in 1991. At the time I had little children and it was difficult and expensive to take them to a show in the city, so I decided to bring fine music to where I live. The concerts are also educational.

"In 20 years of presenting this series, I've learned heaps about music. I believe that artists perform better in a cosy, intimate venue rather than a big concert hall, or outdoors for that matter. Patrons agree and also often tell me even if they aren't familiar with a particular genre, they 'take a risk' coming to our concerts because they know it will always be good. So we will continue to offer performances at affordable prices and present them in the lovely Sandgate Town Hall.

ZOLI MAURITZ
ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

“ Music does not need a translator. There is nothing to understand — just feel and listen. I feel it is a doomed civilization that prizes material wealth over spiritual well being. It would be heaven to live in a world where ART is on the 'altar' rather than money. After all, Music By The Sea believes that ART is essential for the well-being of the community.”

4 PALETTES ART EXHIBITION

Four artists who have been friends for years have collaborated to put together an exhibition of their recent works — highlighting how individual an approach to art can be, depending upon the message being conveyed through this means of visual communication.

Winnie Luk's vivid colours explore the range of what the sky offers, in oils, through to her explosions of feeling in her acrylic abstracts.

Keri McSweeney's works present her insightful play of geometric forms alongside natural formations in the environment, through oils.

Cheryl Nugent's superb drawing skill is evident in her calligraphic approach to her work in acrylic and water media, with her beloved horses and maggies taking front stage.

Tricia Reust's love of mixed media takes precedence in this selection of her work.

All four artists are members of the Redcliffe Art Society. Come along to the exhibition to see how they use what a "palette" has to offer!

FOUR QUEENSLAND HOTSPOTS

MORETON BAY • SUNSHINE COAST
REDCLIFFE • TOWNSVILLE

Further to last month's report, which noted property analyst Terry Ryder's long-term prediction of growth for the region from back in 2015; it is no surprise that this view has been bolstered by Moreton Bay earning a spot in the latest Hotspotting National Top Ten Best Buys in 2017 report.

The report nominated four Queensland locations, Moreton, Sunshine Coast, Redcliffe and Townsville as being among the ten places nationally that were the "pick of the crop". Each was selected because they were locations with growth drivers that would achieve capital growth above the norm in the future.

"They are places on the cusp of a phase of good capital growth," Mr Ryder said. "They're locations with identifiable drivers of demand for real estate, which will place pressure on prices and rents." Mr Ryder was not surprised to see so many Queensland locations in his top ten.

“ I think it's an evolution of the market from the situation that predominated for the last few years when we were talking all about Sydney and then Melbourne. Sydney is very much past its peak and is winding down, Melbourne is still producing good figures but it's past its peak as well, I think," he said.

REAL ESTATE on the PENINSULA

As a result, people have started to look for alternatives and one of the big factors is affordability. There is a lot of evidence of people looking toward south east Queensland for affordable alternatives and better rental yields. This is where people are expecting they are going to find the growth moving forward.

The sales volumes in the suburbs of the Moreton Bay region show the importance of affordability in residential real estate. Four of the core suburbs of our region have each sold over 390 houses in the past 12 months. Three of the four have median house prices below $370,000. The Moreton Bay Region certainly offers affordable housing as well as good rail and road links to Brisbane to the south and the Sunshine Coast (and beyond) to the north.

The Redcliffe Peninsula is still affordable for houses and units, it has had big infrastructure spending, and let's not forget about our inimitable laid-back lifestyle while being only moments from the CBD; what a place to live, learn, work and play!
